

White Cap Ranks as Top Ten Distributor within Building Materials/Construction and Safety

White Cap is pleased to announce it has been named to Modern Distribution Management's 2024 Top Distributors Lists within the Building Materials/Construction sector and Safety sector.

White Cap was listed eight out of 15 in the Building Materials/Construction sector, and seven out of 19 in the Safety sector.

Modern Distribution Management (MDM) is the leading research, analytical and educational content provider in wholesale distribution. The 2024 Top Distributors Lists, now in its 15th year, is MDM's annual ranking of the top 200+ North American industrial, construction and commercial product distribution companies by revenue across 20 discrete product category sectors.

"This year's MDM Top Distributors feature is bigger and better than ever, and we congratulate all 200-plus companies recognized across our 20 different lists," said Mike Hockett, MDM Executive Editor. "These firms are the biggest market movers in their respective industries and typically the outperformers in their field. They continue to showcase the vision and know-how to move this sector forward and why wholesale distribution remains a critical part of the supply chain."

We are grateful to be included in both lists alongside other successful organizations in the distribution industry.
